Auburn Hills, Michigan, 22 août 2023 – BorgWarner présentera au salon IAA Mobility, hall A2, stand B11, son portefeuille de produits innovants et en pleine extension, destinés à accompagner les constructeurs automobiles dans leur conversion à l'électrification. L'événement, organisé à Munich, en Allemagne, du 5 au 8 septembre 2023, mettra en lumière les progrès de l'entreprise par rapport à ses objectifs stratégiques et l'évolution continue de ses solutions technologiques performantes pour la transition vers l'e-mobilité. Le salon servira également de vitrine pour présenter à un plus large public la nouvelle image de marque de BorgWarner.

« Avec un logo repensé, BorgWarner entre dans l'ère de notre nouvelle identité d'entreprise, dans laquelle nous nous concentrerons davantage sur la mise en œuvre de nos stratégies d'électrification de la mobilité et de réduction des émissions mondiales de CO<sub>2</sub> », a déclaré Frédéric Lissalde, Président et Chief Executive Officer, BorgWarner. « Nous avons fait de grands progrès dans la réalisation de nos objectifs Charging Forward, ce qui nous a amené récemment à dévoiler des objectifs actualisés Charging Forward 2027 lors de notre Investor Day en juin. »

Avec la dernière génération de ses onduleurs au carbure de silicium (SiC) qui seront visibles sur le stand, BorgWarner renforce sa position parmi les leaders mondiaux du marché des systèmes 800 V. Les onduleurs, dotés du module breveté Viper, améliorent les performances de conduite, augmentent l'autonomie des batteries et réduisent les temps de charge.

BorgWarner présentera également des solutions leaders de l'industrie de gestion thermique pour les véhicules électriques, telles que les eCoolers, eFans, réchauffeurs haute tension, ainsi que des stations de charge, électronique de puissance et systèmes de transmission. Toutes ces solutions soulignent l'importance que l'entreprise accorde au développement durable. Conçus pour une sécurité maximale, la famille des eCoolers BorgWarner est utilisée pour refroidir les batteries de différents types de cellules ainsi que l'électronique de puissance. La technologie assure une dissipation thermique très efficace, ce qui augmente les performances et la durée de vie des batteries et des composants électroniques. Une gamme de stations de charge rapide fixes à courant continu, ligne de produits en constante évolution, sera également exposée sur le stand B11 de BorgWarner, hall A2.

Des responsables de haut rang de l'entreprise feront le point sur les progrès réalisés dans le cadre du programme Charging Forward et de la stratégie Charging Forward 2027 récemment dévoilée.
